The following are the 2025 RLSH Demographics. It should be noted that this does not include all RLSH since this is a relatively new survey for the RLSH community. There are areas that are not represented here, even though they are highly active with RLSH activity.

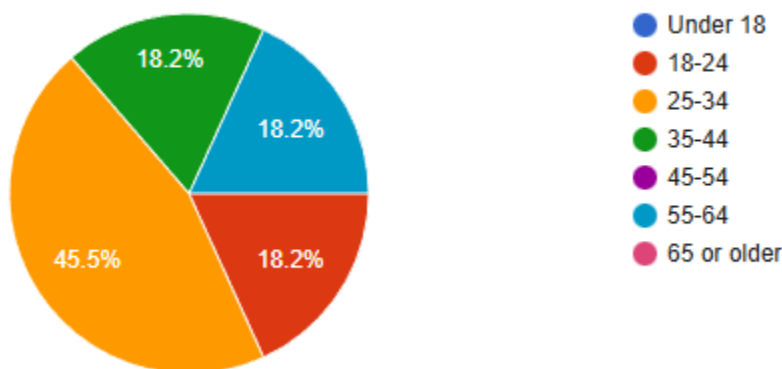

Demographic surveys are crucial because they provide context to survey data, allowing researchers and organizations to understand who is responding, identify patterns across different groups (like age, gender, ethnicity), and ensure equitable representation, ultimately leading to better-targeted strategies, fairer resource allocation, and deeper insights into societal needs and behaviors. They help reveal disparities, track changes, and create more inclusive policies and products.
